NEW YORK WORLD MAKES

ATTACK ON M'KELLAR

Says Defense Council Is Target of Tennessee Senator Because of Rebuff Last Year.

The New York World's correspondent at Washington launches an attack on Senator K. D. McKellar because of his activity in the recent investigation by the senate military affairs committee. The World's article says, in part: "An effort is being made to have the light of publicity turned upon Senators Kenneth McKellar, of Tennessee; Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska; and John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, all of whom have admitted, either in the senate or before the committee, that they were disappointed in efforts to get army contracts for constituents or friends. "Senators McKellar, Hitchcock and Weeks complained that they could not introduce persons desiring to sell to the government devices or manufactured products to 'better' the army to the right officials. Senator Williams, of Mississippi, in answer to Hitchcock's speech, said: "Senators complain and say they have been down to the departments and their 'constituents did not know where to go,' that one man would send their constituents to another man and another man would send them to a third man, and the third man might send them to a fourth. "The war department's files contain, it is charged, plenty of communications from congressmen that would bring upon them much criticism from their constituents and the public, if made known. Many of them have not made that fine distinction between serving a constituent or friend in a proper way and going so far as to try to use influence to get a contract or a government position that would keep him out of the trenches. "Sensations would undoubtedly mark an investigation into the records of the war department, but it would require authorized authority to get at the files, for Secretary Baker will not open them to the public. "Senator McKellar received a rebuff at the hands of the Council of National Defense about the time he started. He has now tried and tried to destroy it ever since. His cross-examinations of witnesses before the military committee, in an effort to prove that the members of the council were not actuated by patriotic purposes, but by a desire to feather their own nests, have smacked of police court hearings when common criminals are on trial. "Early in his senatorial career Mr. McKellar came in contact with the National Council of Defense. The senator asked that some of his constituents receive a share of war contracts. Members of the council, most of them civilians, captains of industry, unschooled in senatorial prerogatives, insisted on handling these matters on their merits. "Mr. McKellar became angered on one occasion and wrote a letter to the secretary of war protesting against the failure of some of the officials of the council to accord him 'senatorial courtesy.' "He next became irritated over the failure of the war department to select a cantonment site in the swamps of Mississippi adjacent to Memphis, which he had strenuously recommended. "Later Memphis was selected as the site for an aviation training field. A Memphis contractor wanted the $1,000,000 job of constructing this camp, and when the award went to St. Louis firm, Mr. McKellar turned his wrath against the chairman of the emergency construction committee of the war industries board, which made the award. "He has become one of the most persistent naggers of the administration in the military affairs committee, of which he is a member. The members of the committee who have attempted to discredit the conduct of the war eagerly have the Tennessee senator's grievances."

WORSE WEATHER HITS COKE WORK IN PENNSYLVANIA
Storm Kept Connecting Railroad From Placing Cars at Any Ovens for One Day.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 15.—Car congestion in the Connellsville regions is so serious that even under the most favorable weather conditions the movement of these cars is almost normal for some time. While shipments of coke to blast furnaces will move in greater volume if the present moderation in weather continues, it will be restricted until rail lines are made more clear.

It was estimated that there are about 10,000 cars of coke and coke on the tracks east of Pittsburgh, and about 12,000 cars near Brownsville, Pa., which it has been impossible to move on the rails. Car supply on the Monongahela railroad was about 30 per cent., and on the Pennsylvania railroad was 50 per cent. Last Monday no cars at all were placed by the former road because of the bitter storm.
